

The Albedo Effect' Performance Piece

Friday, September 23, 2011 | 6:00 PM - 6:30 PM

Cubana Social, 70 North 6th St., Brooklyn

"The Albedo Effect" is a performance piece and film that uses dance and physical expression to "play" with the idea of the urban heat island effect. Throughout the performance, artists Tara DePorte and Jacqueline Hall use the task of painting a roof white as a means to move, create images, and explore the transformation of the heat trapping blackness of the traditional NYC rooftop into the cool, reflective surface of a white roof. Accompanied by music from Alex White.

This event is a part of Climate Week NYC 2011.
