Vote Solar For Good Challenge Results Are In!

Congratulations to the winners of our Vote Solar For Good Facebook challenge – Garden Oaks Elementary School, The Human Impacts Institute, and Philabundance! Hundreds of supporter voted for their favorite non-profits to receive a $1,500 solar donation from the Green Mountain Energy Sun Club, and these three organizations received the most votes in their respective states.

Here's how these deserving organizations plan to use their solar donations...for good!

The Human Impacts Institute - Brooklyn, New York

The Human Impacts Institute works with East River State Park to bring free environmental education programs to community members and visitors of North Brooklyn. As the park does not have electricity, the solar-powered generator which will be donated by the Sun Club will be available for both HII workshops and events with other community partners. It will be used to charge batteries that serve their public events and workshops, such as outdoor lighting, cell phone chargers, portable fans and coolers, and music and environmental film screenings. It will also be used to host sustainable construction, energy efficiency, and cooking demonstrations.

Thank you to all who participated and stay tuned for updates on how your votes have helped a lot of great organizations!
