Epic Volunteers: Out & About

Now that the ski season is over, several of our first class of Epic Volunteers have hit the road for their service projects.

Rodney Summo is currently working with the Big Apple's Human Impacts Institute, where he'll teach sustainable practices to small businesses in Brooklyn. Summo plans to bring some of his lessons learned back to Summit County.